Venue Map

Welcome to the Bristol LGBTQ+ Art Trail 2021

LGBTQ+ artists from around Bristol have been brought together to present their art for you to view and enjoy around Central Bristol. A number of generous venues have kindly donated their window space for LGBTQ+ artists to display photos, illustrations, prints sculptures and mosaics as part of the second Bristol LGBTQ+ Art Trail.

You don't have to walk the venues in order, but there's a variety of places to go and see some amazing art whilst getting some fresh air, enjoying food and drink and supporting local businesses as well.

Each venue and exhibit also has an associated charity – if you want to donate to a charity scan the QR code on the exhibit card to be taken to their donation page! In these difficult times, LGBTQ+ charities can do with all the support we can give to help them continue their good work.

If you would like to buy any art, you can contact the artists directly using the details in this booklet or on the exhibition card – this is normally their social media account page or website.

This guide book showcases the artists, the venues and the charities that feature in the second Bristol LGBTQ+ Art Trail 2020.

Thank you for supporting and enjoy the art trail!

Bristol Pride 2021

“To the LGBT+ people of Bristol, please remember that we still have a really exciting programme of in-venue and socially distanced events to look forward to including Cabaret Show, Comedy Night, Queer Vision Film Festival and we’re working on some exciting elements to enjoy your Pride together with your bubble safely. You can still support us, and the work we do, by buying a supporter wristband. We’re still here, we’re still proud and we will march together soon.”

The Artists

1

Dave Hall

Printing & collage

Instagram: @best_dave_ever

Dave Hall is a printmaker based in Bristol. His work is based on lino printing and screen printing and is influenced by his training as a graphic designer. Dave's designs are always bright and graphic and feature simple images printed over and over again in a spectrum of colours. Since lockdown, Dave has focussed on retro icons including cassette tapes, Polaroid cameras and Gameboys.

The Artists

2

Hattie

Textiles art

Instagram: @hat.tea

Hattie is a textile and soft sculpture artist from Bristol. Their work focuses on the human body and stitching together a anatomical representation of the physical form with the emotional experience and personal meaning the body holds.

The Artists

3

Matthew Price

Illustrations

Instagram: @matthewpriceart

Matthew Price is an artist practising in a wide range of disciplines; photography, illustration, mixed-media painting and, more recently, paper collage. His main inspirations are the natural world and his home town of Bristol. After studying for a ceramics degree at Bower Ashton UWE, Matthew shifted his focus to photography and more recently collage. One of his designs features on the Bristol Pound.

The Artists

4

Ben Jenner

Printmaking and visual poetry

Instagram: @ben__jenner

Web: www.benjenner.co.uk

Ben is an artist from Bristol whose practice includes; printmaking, book arts, visual poetry and performance. His work stems from an interest in the handwritten mark, and is inspired by asemic writing, rooted in abstract expressionism. These organic compositions allude to a tension of conscious and subconscious mark-making, and allow for understanding to happen across all linguistic meaning.

The Artists

5

Tom Barker

Diorama/collage

Instagram: @tom.two.spoons.barker

@SpoonSpoonBrick

Tom is a circus artist, artist/performer and performance artist. They have spent years creating space for whimsy on stage but now they are traversing mediums to create whimsy on different scales. Even since moving to Bristol six years ago they have formed a growing connection to it, including it's geography and it's history (not to mention its history in brick!)

The Artists

6

Adam Cockle

Illustration

Instagram: @confetti__spaghetti

Adam is an NHS administrator living in Bristol. He is passionate about all things food, from cooking to eating to food photography and now, food illustration.

The Artists

7

Susannah McDougall
Painting, drawing, sculpture
Instagram: @suze_mcdoog

Suze is a Gloucestershire born artist who has just recently moved to Bristol. She enjoys exploring different mediums of art, and specialises in painting, drawing, sculpture whilst dabbling in a little bit of everything. Suze particularly enjoys working with bright colours and expressing her hobbies and interests through the work she creates. She sells her work online and loves creating special commissions for anyone who'll throw a crazy or exciting idea her way.

The Artists

8

Duncan Tattersall

Print

Instagram: @duncan.rt

Duncan is an artist and designer living and working in Bristol. A lifetime passion for historic buildings has informed his work for many years, more recently combining with a background in fashion and textiles to see him embrace the medium of screen print. Since 2018 he has collaborated with buildings preservation charity The Landmark Trust designing and producing bespoke fabrics for curtains in their restoration projects, including a 600 year old medieval hall house in Wales and a Gothic Revival dairy in Kent.

The Artists

9

Lisa Rose

Print

Web: www.lisaroseillustration.com

Instagram: @thelisabelle

Lisa Rose is a pasta-based human originally from Italy, now living in Bristol.

Her illustrations are inspired by female and queer experiences, bodies, sexuality, and intimacy. She focuses on creating more realistic representations of people, especially women and marginalised genders.

The Artists

10

Leo Hynett
Acrylic painting
Instagram: @analogueaddict

Leo is a Bristol-based artist and writer. He mostly works in inks but recently branched out into acrylics and is now often covered in paint. He's working on a science fiction novel and is a journalist at Distilled Post.

The Artists

11

Matthew Fitzsimons

Painting

Instagram: @bazmattyart

I'm a painter originally from Northampton (via London) who focuses on the surreal and the oxymoron. The opposite and the completely unrelated always makes for some pretty interesting pieces. It also helps add humour to art, as I don't believe we have enough of that. As my work developed I learned not to take myself too seriously, as the joy of creation is joy itself.

The Artists

12

Aliyah Owen

Mosaic

Instagram: @aliyahgator

Website; www.aliyahgator.com

Aliyahgator is a mosaic artist living in portishead . I use a variety of different materials in my mosaics including glass, ceramics, broken crockery and found materials. I am interested in making mosaics about animals and the natural world, but also creating characters which tell stories. I run lgbt friendly mosaic classes... details available on my website

The Artists

13

Scott Hamilton

Photography

Website; www.scottahamilton.co.uk

Scott is a photographer living in Bristol, having moved from London in 2019. He specialises in portraiture and live gig photography.

His photography has been exhibited in several galleries including London and Sweden, whilst the Guild Hall gallery in London hosts Scott's work in their permanent collection. His work has also featured in Mascular Magazine and the London gay guide Boyz Magazine.

In 2018 he won the 'Love In London' competition, resulting in his work being displayed throughout London and the Underground. He went on to be featured in many gay publications worldwide. Scott's photography is also featured in the Portrait of Britain Book Volume 2, and was made one of the finalists having his work displayed on smart boards all over the country.

The Artists

14

Colleen Freer

Ink on Paper

Instagram: @c0llfacekilla

Website; www.collfacekilla.co.uk

Colleen is originally from Essex and currently lives in Bristol with her wife, two guinea pigs and many many plants. Inspired by animals and nature, she draws with ink on paper.
